PEACE
ON YOUR WINGS

A New Musical

A Hiroshima-inspired story created in Hawaii

In September 2023, Peace on Your Wings: The Story of Sadako Sasaki debuted in Japan in Hiroshima.

This Hiroshima-inspired story was created in Hawaii and performed by children from Honolulu.

The children captivated audiences with their incredible singing and acting, moving them to tears and closing the show with thunderous applause.

2025 is a milestone year as we commemorate 80 years since the atomic bombing and this musical, which conveys the preciousness of peace to the future, is a powerful reminder that those of us living in the present must look at our past and move forward to the future with hope. Join us for a powerful and emotional musical that transcends generations and spreads the message of hope!

The Story

Set 10 years after the atomic bombing in the still recovering city of Hiroshima, Sadako Sasaki and her friends, each with their own dreams for the future, go about their lives with determination and smiles, having overcome the dark days of the war and believing in their futures.

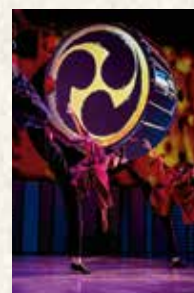

Little do they know that darkness is coming in a different form: radiation, a silent threat. When Sadako falls ill from radiation, she fights, putting her hopes for peace and health into each paper crane she folds. As she continues making paper cranes, her hopes also reach the hearts of her friends.

While Sadako passes away in her youth, her wish for peace lives on in those around her. Despite their sadness at Sadako's death, her passing inspires her friends to create the Children's Peace Monument to spread her message to the world.

This musical is a message to the future from children who never gave up hope even when times were tough and continued to move forward while believing in peace. It is an anthem of peace that will resound in the hearts of audiences everywhere.
