PREFACE

Stéphane peint, dessine et colle beaucoup. Moi j'écris... un peu.
Nous utilisons nos matériaux respectifs de la même façon, en dépit d'une certaine grammaire au profit d'un certain instinct. C'est peut-être ce qui l'a poussé à me donner la parole dans cet ouvrage. Il a fallu chercher les mots justes, parler vrai et définir précisément ce qu'est et suggère son univers artistique. J'ai contemplé. J'ai cherché en moi. Je me suis enrichi au contact de ses œuvres, épanoui dans son monde rempli de souvenirs.

Stéphane paints, draws and glues a lot. Meanwhile, I write... a bit.
We use our respective materials in the same way, to a certain extent abandoning grammar for instinct. Maybe that's why he asked me to say something in this book. I then had to find the right words, speak the truth, and define precisely what his work is and suggests. I thought about it long and hard. I delved deep within me. His paintings have enriched me, and I have found fulfillment in his world of memories.

STEPHANE WHO??

Stéphane Gautier (1973) est un de ces créateurs français « hors norme » que l'on rencontre en dehors des sentiers battus de l'art contemporain et qui possède cependant un langage singulier et direct. Son travail se situe à la frontière subtile du design, de la publicité et de l'art.

Designer de formation, Stéphane Gautier imagine des concepts originaux qui partent de ses idées et intuitions et dont il est tel un chef d'orchestre coordonnant les différents corps de métier jusqu'à la finalisation. De cette pratique qui lui vaut une reconnaissance dans l'univers du design, il tire pour son art un talent unique à déchiffrer les symboles et les images et à les transformer en un alphabet universel, perceptible par chacun, dans un lien immédiat et direct avec l'œuvre.

Stéphane Gautier (1973) is one of those “extraordinary” french creators that one comes across off the beaten track of contemporary art, yet who uses a language that is unusual and direct. His work lies at the subtle frontier between design, advertising and art.

Trained as a creative and designer, Stéphane Gautier imagines original concepts that start from his ideas and intuitions and for which he is like a conductor coordinating the various trades until the finalization. From this practice, which has earned him recognition in the world of design, he draws for his art a unique talent for deciphering symbols and images and transforming them into a universal alphabet, perceptible by everyone, in an immediate and direct link with the artwork.

WELCOME TO POP ART

Warhol a refaonné l'art contemporain, fait des codes consuméristes et de la culture populaire ses muses joyeuses. On dira Pop Art... On dira ce qu'on veut. Avec lui, les arts - plastiques et autres - avaient lancé leur mise à jour, l'avatar Warhol upgradait la création. Le symbole s'est mis à aimer les icônes concrètes de son époque, à supporter sa propre légèreté, à afficher de toutes nouvelles fonctionnalités.

Warhol reshaped contemporary art, turning consumerist codes and popular culture into his joyful muses. Call it Pop Art... call it what you will. With him, the arts - visual and otherwise - had initiated their update; the Warhol avatar upgraded creation. The symbol began to embrace the concrete icons of its time, to support its own lightness, and to display entirely new functionalities.

PLAYFUL ART

Enfant de ce monde artistique en mouvement, Stéphane Gautier a commis son premier acte « Pop » à l'âge de 13 ans. Quelques jouets collés et peints sur une toile, fulgurance ado d'une vie future dédiée à la (ré)création. En orbite autour de la sphère de l'art contemporain, gravitent quelques esprits libres et fantasques, des électrons sans attache dont Stéphane Gautier se revendique. Artiste amuseur, léger et singulier, il est aussi créateur, concepteur, plasticien, s'adonne parfois à la publicité mais voudrait surtout vivre pieds nus au bord de l'eau. Sa vie professionnelle aux multiples aspects le fait jongler avec les symboles populaires et les codes de consommation de notre époque. Un matériau pop qu'il décline en art dans son atelier. Ses œuvres sont copieusement nourries de cette imagerie universelle ancrée dans le quotidien de chacun. Elles y trouvent même leur énergie première. L'empathie immédiate que génèrent ses créations démontre à quel point l'image publique (qu'il s'agisse d'un produit, d'une marque, d'un nom, d'une œuvre...) et l'empreinte visuelle qu'elle laisse, finissent souvent par intégrer le patrimoine commun et font partie de nous.

A child of the ever-evolving artistic world, Stéphane Gautier committed his first "Pop" act at the age of 13. It involved affixing and painting a few toys onto a canvas - a teenage spark foretelling a future dedicated to (re)creation. Orbiting around the sphere of contemporary art, Stéphane Gautier sees himself as one of the free and capricious spirits, unattached electrons. As an entertaining, light-hearted, and distinctive artist, he is also a creator, designer, and visual artist, occasionally delving into advertising but, above all, aspiring to live barefoot by the water's edge. His multifaceted professional life requires him to juggle with the popular symbols and consumption codes of our time. This pop material is then transformed into art within his studio. His works are abundantly nourished by the universal imagery embedded in everyone's daily life, finding their primary energy source there. The immediate empathy generated by his creations illustrates how public image - whether it be a product, a brand, a name, or a work of art—and the visual imprint it leaves, eventually integrate into the common heritage and become a part of us.

UNBEARABLY CUTEE

De cette diversité créative, Stéphane Gautier extrait l'essence de son travail entre design sensoriel et art jouissif. Distordre la réalité quotidienne via une approche plastique magnétique voire charmeuse est le moyen pour lui d'interroger ses hôtes sur l'idée d'une mémoire collective, d'un ressenti élémentaire commun encré dans l'enfance et son infinie douceur. Enfance pétée de symboles, de veaux d'or joyeux, de madeleines, de bombecs, de petits jouets et des multiples représentations de cette ère de la consommation. Elle est l'allié de toute création pop – voire postmoderne – et Stéphane Gautier s'amuse à la traduire en langage artistique, ludique, plastique via des œuvres qui agissent sur plusieurs générations comme les caractères hallucinatoires d'un alphabet universel. L'art de Stéphane Gautier est instantanément lisible, radicalement direct, follement intelligent... Malin comme un ours.

From this creative diversity, Stéphane Gautier extracts the essence of his work, navigating the realms of sensory design and joyful art. Distorting everyday reality through a magnetic and charming artistic approach is his means of questioning his audience about the concept of collective memory, a shared elemental feeling rooted in childhood and its infinite sweetness. Childhood, woven with symbols, cheerful golden calves, madeleines, candies, small toys, and the myriad representations of the consumerist era, becomes the ally of all things pop - even postmodern. Stéphane Gautier delights in translating it into an artistic, playful, and plastic language through works that act across generations like the hallucinatory characters of a universal alphabet. Stéphane Gautier's art is instantly readable, radically direct, and delightfully intelligent... Clever as a bear.

CANDY TAMERR

Ours refuge, ours miroir, ours de Proust ou ours étandard, la petite friandise est devenue porte-drapeau sous la créativité étincelante de Stéphane Gautier. Il a adopté l'ours, à moins que ce ne soit l'inverse.

Qui de l'animal ou de l'artiste a pris l'autre pour totem ? Le plasticien a entamé son voyage dans les terres universelles du souvenir et de la mémoire avec pour guide la plus évidente, narrative et fantasmagorique représentation de l'enfance un ours. Bien qu'objet d'amour total, l'artiste a cependant voulu pousser « son expérience régressive via plantigrade » jusqu'au bout. Afin de s'assurer la totale empathie de son observateur, Stéphane Gautier n'a pas opté pour un ours ordinaire mais pour un ourson en bonbon qu'il rebaptise « Happy bear », sculpture en métal, finition dorée, élément conducteur universel de nos émotions infantiles.

Refuge bear, mirror bear, Proustian bear, or standard-bearer bear – the little treat has become a flagbearer under the sparkling creativity of Stéphane Gautier. He has embraced the bear, or perhaps it's the other way around. Who, between the animal and the artist, chose the other as a totem? The visual artist embarked on his journey into the universal lands of memory and recollection, guided by the most obvious, narrative, and fantastical representation of childhood: a bear. Despite being an object of total affection, the artist wanted to push «his regressive experience via a quadruped» to the fullest. To ensure the complete empathy of the observer, Stéphane Gautier didn't choose an ordinary bear but a candy bear he renamed «Happy Bear» – a metal sculpture with a golden finish, a universally conductive element of our childhood emotions.

CHILDHOOD MEMORIES

La chanson dit que le temps est assassin et emporte avec lui le rire des enfants. Les tableaux sucrés de Stéphane Gautier sont faits de ça. Par dizaines, par centaines. Les éclats de rire qui traversent la moindre de ses créations, colorent ses toiles et chatouillent ses sculptures jusqu'à se greffer à l'ADN de son œuvre. Un défi au temps, un refus du dictat de l'oubli... Stéphane Gautier porte au regard les moments doux, l'éternité des petits instants, le goût d'une sucrerie, la charge émotionnelle d'un jouet, l'histoire qu'il cache à peine, les souvenirs qu'il trimballe. Ses œuvres sont trempées dans l'insouciance et la bagatelle. Son univers ouvre des espaces de réflexion sur notre propre enfance, pose un miroir sur ce que nous étions et que nous devrions rester – un peu. Il interroge la dimension mémorielle et universelle de l'enfance. Avec humour, avec dérision mais sans cynisme, il présente des œuvres dont la moindre cellule est dépositaire d'un souvenir et lui procure une force émotionnelle saisissante.

The song claims that time is an assassin, carrying away the laughter of children. Stéphane Gautier's sweet paintings are made of just that. By the dozens, by the hundreds. The bursts of laughter that traverse each of his creations color his canvases and tickle his sculptures, merging with the essence of his work. A challenge to time, a refusal of the dictate of oblivion... Stéphane Gautier brings to the forefront the tender moments, the eternity of small instants, the taste of a sweet, the emotional weight of a toy, the story it barely conceals, the memories it carries. His works are steeped in carelessness and triviality. His universe opens up spaces for reflection on our own childhood, mirrors what we were and what we should remain—a bit. He questions the memorial and universal dimension of childhood. With humor, with irony but without cynicism, he presents works where every cell holds a memory, providing it with a striking emotional power.

Le Pop Art de Stéphane Gautier réside dans l'observation espiègle de son monde et un appétit publicitaire hérité de ses autres vies. À cela, se greffe son envie compulsive de traduire l'émotion que génèrent ses souvenirs. Aux sources de ce «Pop Art» sacrifié ajaille l'idée d'un art populaire, un art pour tous, accessoirement l'art de tous. C'est à cette dimension d'universalité que ce plasticien accroche son travail. Face à l'une de ses œuvres, chacun a un rôle à tenir, une émotion à greffer, une part à prendre. Démesurément pétées des codes de consommation et sociétaux de notre époque, ses créations jubilatoires évoquent les parties communes de la copropriété humaine. Le cœur, la mémoire et l'instinct sont les seuls outils de lecture nécessaires.

The influence of pop art on Stéphane Gautier's work can be found in his mischievous observation of the world and his enthusiasm for advertising that he inherited from his other vocations. Added to this is his compulsive desire to convey the emotions generated by its memories. From this sanctified "pop art" has sprung the idea of a popular art, an art for everyone and incidentally the art of everyone. The artist attaches his work to this dimension of universality. In the presence of one of his works, every individual has a role to play, an emotion to instill and a side to take. Crammed with the social and consumerist codes of our time, his jubilant creations allude to the shared elements of human co-ownership. Heart, memory and instinct are the only tools required to read his work.

IT'S CHILD'S PLAY

Architecte de la mémoire, Stéphane Gautier collecte depuis toujours jouets et objets du quotidien, qui – après réactualisation – constituent la moelle d'une série de sculptures : les Toys Collection.

Pour l'artiste, ces jouets sont langages, exhortent nos sens et jalonnent notre histoire. Réceptacle d'un intime enfoui, ils sont supports de notre souvenir. C'est de cette matière que le plasticien agglomère des centaines de petits soldats en un cœur rutilant de douceur, qu'il fait couler un magma de petits riens d'un robinet de bronze, qu'il nous fait voir des éléphants roses hypnotiques de détails. L'objet ordinaire est prolongement de notre « intérieur » et dans les réalisations de Stéphane Gautier, il acquiert un statut extraordinaire. On ressent alors combien – à mesure que la légèreté de la jeunesse laisse place à la rigueur adulte – cette matière passée devient valeur refuge. Ils sont la représentation de nos souvenirs, la trace de notre existence, l'empreinte de notre bonheur. Toys Collection ou la représentation d'une immortalité fantasmée ?

An architect of memory, Stéphane Gautier has always collected toys and everyday objects, which form the basis of a series of sculptures, entitled: the Toys Collection. For the artist, these toys are a kind of language, they prevail on our senses and mark out our history. The repository of a buried private world, they are our instruments of recollection. Based on this material, the artist amasses hundreds of small soldiers in one heart glowing with tenderness, he lets flow a magma of bits and pieces from a bronze tap and he shows us pink elephants in mesmerising detail. The ordinary object is an extension of our "interior" and in Stéphane Gautier's creations it acquires an extraordinary status. We feel how much – as the levity of youth gives way to the rigour of adulthood – this past material becomes a safe haven. They are the representation of our memories, the trace of our existence, the imprint of our happiness. A Toys Collection or the representation of an imaginary immortality?

Stéphane Gautier ne milite pas. La dérision qui émane de son mélange des genres, de sa surenchère représentative est intuitive. Il rassemble et décrypte les symboles, change la donne visuelle, propose de nouveaux angles et respecte un équilibre nécessaire entre fond et forme. De cette spontanéité naît une relation directe avec l'œuvre.

Ce n'est davantage qu'une relecture des codes qui s'impose devant les travaux de Stéphane Gautier. Derrière la malice, derrière le pétillant et la légèreté de ses jouets d'enfance, il y a la sauvegarde de son propre disque dur. L'artiste compile et reboot compulsivement les données populaires de sa génération. Il détourne les codes mais les archive aussi dans son barnum de plastique, de résine, de gélatine et de souvenirs. Sa démarche artistique transporte l'enfance tout entière. Dans son cabinet de curiosités se cache – à peine – la cartographie tout entière de nos intimes.

Stéphane Gautier is not an activist. The ridicule that emanates from his fusion of genres, from his typical overemphasis is intuitive. He amasses and deciphers symbols, changes the visual order, proposes new perspectives and respects the required balance between form and content. This spontaneity gives birth to a direct relationship with the artwork. Stéphane Gautier's artworks require more than just a re-reading of codes. Behind the mischief, behind the vivacity and levity of his childhood toys, lies the safeguard of his own hard drive. The artist compulsively compiles and reboots the popular data of his generation. He subverts the codes, but also archives them in his display of plastic, resin, gelatine and memory. His artistic approach conveys childhood as a whole. The entire cartography of our private world lies (barely) hidden in his cabinet of curiosities.

ART FLOOOOOOWW

Les facettes de Stéphane Gautier distordent la réalité et font ressentir le pouvoir de l'image, son étrange fascination. On progresse en terrain connu bien que les repères aient été changés et le plasticien d'opérer une œuvre de prestidigitation où objet et matières fusionnent. Son art se définit aussi par son décalage permanent. Tableaux, peintures, sculptures, dessins, sa liberté de plasticien et sa maîtrise des techniques lui permettent d'investir tous les supports de l'art traditionnel.

Stéphane Gautier's jokes distort reality and communicate the power of the image, its strange fascination. We advance through familiar territory, although landmarks have been changed and the artist has created a work of smoke and mirrors, where the object and the material merge. His art is also defined by its permanent displacement. Pictures, paintings, sculptures and drawings: his free use of different media and his mastery of techniques allow him to make use of all traditional artistic forms.

TRUE COLORSS

Cet exercice de la culture de masse, du tout consommable, Stéphane Gautier en voit ici les couleurs d'un temps suspendu, d'un temps globalisé, non sans humour. Sa nouvelle série intitulée « Peek & Choose » dont l'approche compositionnelle et polychrome déclenche une fois encore l'émerveillement devant le phénomène jamais complètement explicité de la couleur... de toutes les couleurs. De fait, chaque flacon est à considérer comme un pic ou « peek » de sensibilité.

Il existe un pouvoir de suggestion des couleurs réunies dans ces alignements de vernis. Les petites bouteilles incarnent le sentiment précis de leur caractère subjectif grâce aux marques qui leurs sont associées par l'artiste et structurant leurs essences intimes avec étrangeté et profondeur. Où l'on reparle chez Stéphane Gautier, d'appropriation, de détournement, de branding, de packaging, en deux mots de « ready made » ou plutôt d'un art « made ready ».

This exercise of mass culture, all-consumable, reveals to Stéphane Gautier the colors of a suspended time, a time globalized, not without humor. His new series entitled 'Peek & Choose,' with its compositional and polychrome approach, once more triggers wonder at the phenomenon never completely explained of color... of all colors. In fact, each of them is to be considered as a peak or 'peek' of sensitivity.

This is because there is indeed a power of suggestion in the colors united in these alignments of nail polish, which contain them to represent a particular meaning. But even more, it is because they embody the precise feeling of their subjective character thanks to the marks associated with them by the artist, structuring their intimate essences with strangeness and depth. Here, we once again find in Stéphane Gautier the themes of appropriation, misappropriation, branding, packaging, in two words 'ready-made,' or rather a 'made ready' art.

CHROMATOLOGY

Les flacons géométriques dûment estampillés opèrent un transfert quasi automatique dans le sens des couleurs et de leur justification émotive, pour ne pas dire psychique sur les sujets qui en perçoivent les effets et pourquoi pas les effluves... Par corrélation, les deux parties obtenues - contenant et contenu - forment un tout si inseparable qu'il est alors nécessaire de s'interroger sur l'illusion à la limite spectrale du genre. L'ironie par laquelle la couleur associée aux logos officiels et/ou fictifs tend d'une certaine manière à présenter un état falsifié de ce que l'on voit.

The duly stamped geometric bottles perform an almost automatic transfer in the sense of colors and their emotional justification, if not psychic, on the subjects who perceive their effects, and why not, the fragrances. By correlation, the two parts obtained - container and content - form a whole so inseparable that it is then necessary to question the illusion at the spectral limit of the genre. The irony with which this color is associated with official and/or fictitious logos, their visual identity, tends in a certain way to present a falsified state of what we see.

Stéphane Gautier est un de ces créateurs « hors norme » que l'on rencontre en dehors des sentiers battus de l'art contemporain et qui possède cependant un langage singulier et direct. Son travail se situe à la frontière subtile du design, de la publicité et de l'art...

Stéphane Gautier is one of those “extraordinary” creators that one comes across off the beaten track of contemporary art, yet who uses a language that is unusual and direct. His work is located on the fine line between design, advertising and art...
