Piano recital with Yojo Christen

An evening for Type 1 Diabetes performed by people living with Type 1 Diabetes.

As part of the Fifth International Keto Live Conference, participants can look forward to a special musical programme: internationally acclaimed pianist and composer Yojo Christen will give a concert that artistically captures the spirit of the conference.

Yojo Christen, who was encouraged from an early age by his stepfather, the composer, and pianist Franz Hummel, can already look back on an impressive career. Concert tours have taken him to Osaka, Kobe, Paris, Zurich and Vienna, among other places. He has performed with renowned orchestras such as the Meiningen Court Orchestra, the Georgian Chamber Orchestra Ingolstadt and the Regensburg Philharmonic Orchestra.

His work has been documented on six CDs, all of which have been enthusiastically reviewed in specialist magazines and the press. His latest release, the CD 'Vivum', has already been streamed over a million times on streaming platforms.

Christen will present a work composed especially for this occasion, which musically interprets the fight against diabetes. The programme is complemented by Beethoven's passionate Appassionata and excerpts from Franz Hummel's '33 Variations on a Waltz by Anton Diabelli' – a virtuoso and multi-layered work that impressively combines tradition and modern musical language.

YoJo was diagnosed with Type 1 Diabetes in May 2024, he will be accompanied by people living with T1 Diabetes, using Ketogenic Metabolic Therapies, EKLC Advisory Board Members, Scientists and Physicians, attending or lecturing at this year's Conference on Thursday June 12th - the day of the Conference traditionally dedicated to Diabetes.

An evening that brings together science, commitment, and music in a special way.

The Entrance is Free!
