Development of global human resources who understand Japan

We develop Japanese skills which match students' needs, and through Japanese language education, we develop human resources who respect cultural diversity in the global society and who hope association and peace.

■ Guidelines

1. Develop balanced 4 skills

We improve students' knowledge and practical skills of 4 skills in studying Japanese. We offer our students opportunities to meet Japanese people and to experience Japanese society and cultures both inside and outside the school. We also develop communication skills as students cultivate a better understanding of Japan through meet-and-greet activities and cultural exchange activities.

2. Develop active learning skills

We develop students' practical skills by supporting them to learn actively and interactively. At the end of two terms respectively, we have a presentation to show the results of their study.

3. Teach strategies for JLPT and EJU

We provide several levels of lessons specialized in Japanese proficiency tests, and teach test strategies. We also do group and individual counseling with students and help them design their plans for their future and career.

■ Privilege for recommendation for our group university

We have a system to recommend students Kaichi International University(Kashiwa, Japan), a group university of Kaichi Gakuen educational corporation. Provided that quota for recommendation can only be obtained if certain conditions are met, such as Japanese language ability and the percentage of attendance at our school.

This school offers an environment where you can learn with a small group, so you can make friends with everyone soon. Teachers talk to each student every day and are always aware of how students are doing. It is also a good memory to have friends from various countries.

My teachers were all very kind and taught me not only Japanese but also Japanese everyday culture and social circumstances. They were also supportive to plan my future together, so I had my school life without anxiety.
